

Which Is The World Largest Selling Biscuit?

If you must choose a snack that is suitable for all ages, then it must be biscuits. Biscuits are snack foods made from wheat flour as the main raw material and adding sugar, oil and other raw materials. The production process is more complicated. There are also many types of biscuits, such as wafer biscuits, sandwich biscuits, chocolate biscuits and soda biscuits. The taste between biscuits and biscuits is also very different, and each kind of biscuits is extremely surprising. It would be really difficult to taste all the types of biscuits in the world.

But delicious biscuits are always welcomed by more people. So do you know which of the most popular and highest-selling biscuits in the world is?

The answer is Oreo!

Shandong Loyal Industrial Co., Ltd. has conducted a large number of investigations on the biscuit market in order to develop a biscuit production line that is more in line with market needs. Therefore, it was found that the highest-selling biscuit in the world is Oreo. Oreo was born in New York, USA in 1912. It is now the world's number one biscuit brand with annual sales of 1.5 billion U.S. dollars.

The brand's most well-known biscuits are "black and white match" biscuits. The outer two layers are chocolate cookies. There is a circle of exquisite embossed patterns on the outer edge of the cookies, and a layer of white cream is in the middle. It tastes very rich and has attracted a large number of loyal customers. Its advertising slogan in the Chinese-speaking area "twist, lick, soak" is even more popular and has reached the point where it has become a household name. Not only that, 50% of people around the world twist Oreo cookies when they eat them. Its unique way of eating is widely circulated among consumers.

As of 2000, 362 billion Oreo biscuits have been sold worldwide. If the biscuits are arranged in sequence, they can go back and forth six times from the earth to the moon. The reason why Oreo cookies are so popular is inseparable from its exquisite taste and high quality.

Oreo biscuits use a biscuit production line to achieve standardized production during the production process. In addition to the need for high-quality biscuit recipes, high-quality equipment is the key to success for manufacturers!

Shandong Loyal Industrial Co., Ltd. aims to help more manufacturers make the most popular biscuits and help them obtain higher profits. The company's engineers have put a lot of effort into developing a biscuit production line. Whether it is in terms of production efficiency or production quality, it can be second to none.

This production line can produce many different types of biscuits. You only need to change the mold to change the shape of the biscuit. At the same time, the whole machine is made of high-quality 304 stainless steel, and the accessories are all internationally renowned brands. The quality is very reliable and has a long use time. We can solve any problems that arise in the future.

The most important thing is that the quality of the biscuits produced by this production line is very high. If you need, we can also provide you with high-quality biscuit recipes to make your production smoother! Allows you to produce high-quality biscuits comparable to Oreo biscuits!